Gate

The End of Time

Upon entering certain Gates, you will be warped to a mysterious location known as the "End of Time." From here, you will have the option to warp to the time period of your choosing. A pillar of light will appear for every Gate through which you have passed. Stand within a pillar and press the A Button to display the age and destination, and then select "Yes" to warp

Pillar of Light

Evolution of the Epoch

As you progress through your adventure, the Epoch gains the ability not only to warp through time, but also to soar across the skies of the world map as a form of transportation. Get on and off the Epoch using the A Button, and guide its movement using the +Control Pad. The Y Button gives you access to the Epoch's time-warping function

When in Doubt, Warp

If you find yourself stuck at any point, try warping to a different time to open new paths. Traveling to a different age may help to advance the story. Hints about where to go can sometimes be found at the End of Time

MENU SCREENS

While on a map screen, press the X Button or touch the icons on the Touch Screen to access the various menus. Use the menu screens to perform all manner of actions, such as changing your equipment and saving your game.

Equipment

On this screen, you can change your characters' equipment and check their attributes. When changing a piece of equipment, select the piece you wish to change, and then select the piece you wish to equip from the options provided.

Elements

Some techs are tied to a certain element. When used against an enemy vulnerable to that element, the damage of a tech is increased. Check the Bestiary (see P.27) to learn enemy weaknesses.

Attributes

Each character has the following attributes. Stars in place of a number beside any attribute mean that the attribute has reached its highest possible value.

LV	A character's level measures his or her relative power. Attributes increase along with level
HP	Current and maximum HP A character loses HP when attacked by enemies, and is KO'd if HP is reduced to zero
MP	Current and maximum MP MP is decreased when using techs or magic (see P 26). Techs and magic cannot be used without sufficient MP.
Attack	The higher the value, the more powerful physical attacks become.
Defense	The higher this value, the less damage a character will take from physical attacks.
Strength	The physical power of a character. A higher Strength allows for more powerful attacks
Accuracy	A higher Accuracy will give a character's attacks a higher chance to hit This attribute also affects the attack power of bowguns and guns.
Speed	This value dictates how often a character acts during battle
Magic	This value represents the power of a character's magical attacks.
Evasion	This value represents the character's ability to dodge enemy attacks
Stamina	A higher Stamina increases a character's Defense.
Magic Defense	The higher this value is, the less damage a character will take from magical attacks

Techs

During their adventures, each character will learn techs—powerful abilities that can damage enemies or heal allies. On this screen, you can check the effects of techs you have learned and see how many TP (tech points) are required to learn the next tech. It is also possible to use healing techs from this menu.

Tech List

The MP cost is displayed here for techs already learned by a character. For techs that have yet to be learned, the number of required TP is shown.

TP (Tech Points)

Tech points are gained after a battle is won (see P.30). Accumulating TP allows you to learn new techs.

Tech Description

Learning Techs and Magic

You will learn a new tech once you have accumulated the required number of TP. Magic can be learned at the End of Time (see P.20) after completing a certain event. TP is required to learn magic in the same manner as techs.

Bestiary

The Bestiary contains data for every monster you have battled. The Touch Screen shows a list of monster names from which you can select an enemy to research. After selecting a monster name, detailed information about that monster will be displayed on the Top Screen.

COMBAT

Coming into contact with an enemy on the area map, or passing through certain locations, will trigger a battle. Choose battle commands from the options provided and defeat all the enemies that stand before you.

Initiating Battle

A battle usually begins under one of the following circumstances:

1. Coming into contact with an enemy.

Bumping into an enemy on the Top Screen will draw you into combat.

2. Passing through a certain location.

After passing through certain points on the map, enemies will appear and attack your party.

Rules of Combat

After a battle commences, your characters' ATB gauges (see P.32) will begin to fill. Once the gauge is full, battle commands such as "Attack" and "Tech" will become available to your character. Use these commands to protect your allies and damage your enemies. Continue to issue commands until all enemies on the field have been defeated.

Game Over

If the HP of all your battle participants reaches zero, the game will end. You will be returned to the title screen and have the option of beginning again from the place where you last saved.

When the Battle is Won

Once you have defeated all enemies on the field, your party will receive experience points, TP, and money. Defeated enemies will also sometimes drop useful items.

The Battle Screen

In DS Mode, the Top Screen displays the battle in progress, while the Touch Screen displays available battle commands. Status bars are not shown by default. If you wish for them to be displayed, set the "Status Bars" option to "ON" in the Settings menu (see P.27)

Escaping From Battle

Hold the L Button and R Button simultaneously, or hold the stylus to the Escape icon, to flee from a battle. There are certain enemies from which you cannot escape.

Attack

Tech (Combo)

Spend MP to use a tech you have learned. Be sure to make use of techs that target multiple enemies! If the ATB gauges of members who have learned combo techs are full, the display will change to "Combo" and you will gain access to dual and triple techs (see P.37)

- It is still possible to use single techs after the display has changed to Combo

Item

Use an item from your inventory

Differences Between Game Modes

Selecting "Game Mode" from the Settings menu will give you the option to choose either the "DS" or "Classic" battle display. Classic mode allows you to play with the same screen used in the original version of Chrono Trigger. Please be aware that this setting does not support the Touch Screen controls.

Status Ailments

Certain enemy attacks will inflict status ailments on your party members. Status ailments can be cured with the appropriate techs or items, and will also automatically fade once the battle has ended.

List of Status Ailments

 Poison HP gradually decreases and attacks are weakened	 Slow slows down the ATB gauge and increases the waiting time between actions
 Blind Clouds your vision, making it difficult to hit enemies	 Sleep Puts you to sleep, lowers defense, and prevents you from taking any actions
 Confuse Prevents you from using commands and confuses you into attacking allies	 Stop Freezes the ATB gauge and prevents you from taking any actions
 Lock Prevents the use of techs	 KO HP is reduced to zero and you can no longer perform any actions

Techs

Techs consist of single techs, performed by one character, and dual and triple techs, performed by two or three specific party members. When using techs that strike multiple opponents like Crono's "Cyclone," try switching between targets to see which pattern allows you to hit the most enemies.

○ If even one member lacks sufficient MP, you will be unable to perform a combo tech.

The following list is just a small sample of the many techs your characters can learn.

ARENA BATTLES

If you warp to the Arena of the Ages via the End of Time or by selecting "Arena" at the title screen, you will have the opportunity to raise a monster and then pit it against others in duels.

A View of the Stables

The screen below will be shown upon warping from a certain pillar of light at the End of Time or selecting "Arena" at the title screen.

Merchant

This merchant sells items used for training monsters and during monster battles in the arena's Pit.

Pit Boss

Speak to this man if you wish to enter your monster in a battle (see P.40).

Stable Master

The training screen will appear when you speak to this character.

Getting a Monster

If you have no monster of your own, speak to the stable master and he will provide you with one. Select the monster you desire from the choices he presents to you.

Raising a Monster

If you already have a monster, the training screen will appear when you speak to the stable master. The Top Screen displays your monster's attributes, and the Touch Screen displays a menu.

Training Menu

Train	Send your monster off to train and improve its fighting capabilities.
Toggle Display	Display information about your monster's known abilities on the upper screen.
Release	Set your monster free. Once released, a monster will never return.

Training a Monster

To send your monster off for training, select "Train" from the training menu, and then select an item to give the creature, and a time period in which it should conduct its training. Return to the arena after enough time has passed, and the monster will return as well. Depending on the item and time period you selected, it may have improved its attributes or learned new techs. Sometimes it may even return with an item.

Battling in the Pit

When staging a battle in the Pit, both you and your opponent must pay an entrance fee from your party funds (G). After the battle, each player receives an item according to the outcome. Follow the steps below to stage a Pit battle.

- 1 Speak to the Pit Boss within the arena and select "Yes" when asked if you would like to enter a monster battle.
- 2 Select "Prize match" to fight an NPC opponent, or "Interdimensional battle" to challenge a friend via DS wireless communications.
- 3 Select a tier of battle and pay the indicated entrance fee. The higher the tier, the better the item you will receive if your monster wins. If you choose to enter a prize match, it will begin immediately. If you choose to hold an interdimensional battle, a screen will appear and enable you to search for an opponent.

Interdimensional Battles (Wireless Battles)

If you choose to hold a wireless battle, the screen to the right will appear once you have selected a tier. To look for an existing challenge to accept, select "Accept challenge." To issue an open challenge that another player can accept, select "Issue challenge."

ⓘ Please read P.41-42 before beginning a wireless battle.

Arena Combat

When monsters battle in the Pit, they select their own actions automatically. Players can support their monsters from the sidelines by providing them with items to use, but cannot control the creatures.

Tips for Trainers

- After a monster has won a few battles, send it off for training. It may evolve into a different monster or grow considerably stronger.
- Monsters have an attribute called "Trust," which increases as they win more battles. The higher a monster's Trust, the more likely it will be to use the items you give it during battle.
- A balanced mix of training and combat is important when raising monsters. And don't forget to continue with your main quest!

DS Wireless Communications

What you will need:

Two (2) Nintendo DS or Nintendo DS Lite Systems.

Two (2) Chrono Trigger Game Cards.

Instructions

- 1 For each Nintendo DS system, check that the power is turned OFF, and then insert the Game Card.
- 2 Turn each DS system's power ON. The DS Menu Screen will be displayed.
- 3 Touch the Chrono Trigger panel.
- 4 See P.38 for further instructions.

Wireless Communication Guidelines

Please note the following points regarding wireless communications:

- The  displayed on the Nintendo DS Menu screen or the game menu is the Nintendo DS Wireless Icon. Choosing a menu option with a Nintendo DS Wireless Icon activates the wireless communications mode. Never activate this mode in areas where wireless communications are prohibited (such as on airplanes, in hospitals, on trains or on buses).
- The  displayed on screen while wireless communications are in operation indicates the signal strength of the wireless signal. The icon has four modes depending on the signal strength, as shown below. The stronger the signal is, the more stable the wireless communications will be.

No. of Bars	0	1	2	3
Strength	Weaker \longleftrightarrow Stronger

When the wireless communications mode is active, the power light will flash at a different speed.

- For the best wireless communications performance, please note the following:
 - All Nintendo DS systems should be within 30 feet of each other, or at a distance where the signal strength icon shows two or more bars.
 - The Nintendo DS systems should face each other as directly as possible.
 - Avoid having people or other obstructions between the Nintendo DS systems.
 - Avoid interference from other devices. If communication seems to be affected by other devices (wireless LAN, microwave ovens, cordless devices, computers), move to another location or turn off the interfering device.
